to me

Here are the words:

As we break this ground in anticipation of construction, we stand at a sacred intersection where construction and development meet grace and humanity. This place will have a holy purpose of giving seniors' a home, a community, a place of care. So let us pray

O God, giver of life and provider of care,

We thank you for those whose vision has brought us to this moment. Those who gave form to the void; who labored tirelessly to raise resources; who honed plans and laid a firm foundation. Bless them as they continue to give shape to hopes, and life to dreams.

We thank you for the gift of this land on which vision becomes construction, and construction becomes community. Bless those who will work in the building of this project. Grant safety to their bodies and delight in the gift they are making.

Bless those who will come here to live. May this place of hard things of concrete and wood become a soft place of love and affection. A place where the acceptance of our ageing may be a place of comfort and joy.

So we ask for your presence to pulsate through ground and stone and wood to give life to this place, that good deeds will flow through walls and barriers providing compassion in community, joy in relationships, and strength in heart.

Hear our prayer. Let your Glory shine, In the name of Jesus Amen
